REARD IN THE GREENROOM

Manager Leslie Getting Ready for "The Red Hussar."

A Wealth of Attractions for the Week of August 18.

H. T. Leslie, of the Lyric Theatre, London, who is saling James C. Duff in the production of "The Red Hussar," at Palmer's Theatre, was busily engaged in arranging matters yesterday. Mr. Leslie did not enjoy vesterday's radiant specimen of American weather. It was one of Uncle Sam's institu-tions that he did not appreciate. He said that in addition to Miss Marie Tempest, there would be two other English people in "The Red Hussar" Company, one of whom would be Mr. Sauvage, well-known in London. They had not yet arrived. The other members of the Company would be American, and "The Red Hussar" would be presented at Palmer's Theatre the first week in August.

Manager Gilmore, of "The Sea King." now at Paimer's, has, according to Mr. Leslie, extended to him but scant courtesy. absolutely declining to permit "The Red Hussar" people to do any rebearsing at Palmer's, or to enter the theatre for any pur-pose. Theodore Moss was powerless, as Mr. Gilmore has a contract in black and white. "The Sea King " will end its season Satur day night, and Palmer's will be closed for two weeks before "The Red Hussar" is heard. The opera has been played five hundred times in London and the English

Mr. Keogh, who was once Mrs. Langtry's manager, is to take charge of "Sara," Mrs. Rankin's play, next season. Mrs. Rankin had many offers. . . .

Manager E. E. Rice was in town yester day, snave and sanguine. He is completing his arrangements for the spectacular production of Paul Potters "latest humorous conception" entitled "The World's Fair. Mr. Rice says he is quite sure that it is the kind of thing that the people want. my idea of 'The World's Fair.'" h my idea of The world's Fair. he said:
"and it shows it in its various departments.
No, it is not a show that depends upon tights. To be sure, there will be fourteen pair in constant use. Nobody can accuse me of favoring that kind of attire—dooking round with an eye full of righteousness.). Of that I am quite certain. My costumes are always in the best taste." What there is of them—yes.

Prof. Herrmann has not re-engaged the great Trewey. George W. Lederer, the magician's representative, says that though Trewey was in receipt of an enormous salary, of which he was scrupniously careful, he wrots some rather cruel criticisms to the other side. As soon as Lederer heard of them—which he did when in London—he cabled to the Professor not to re-engage Trewey. Prof. Herrmann has not re-engaged the great Trewey. George W. Lederer, the Jean H. Williams, one of the two actors who are suing Miss Fanne Davemport, says that the third trial of the case will come up in September or October. He says that everything is going along beautifully. Mr. Williams is perfectly undaunted, unlike most actors, who, in face of litigation, wilt like liven collars on one of these amiable July days.

Mesers, Locke & Davis have taken a house in Third avenue at Ninety-ninth street, in which the costumers, carpenters and scene painters engaged in the interests of the Emma Juch Opera company and "Nero" can work. On the upper floor is a big stage, to be used for drilling supers and rehearsing chorus people.

It looks as though the week beginning Aug. 18 would be one to almost terrify metropolitan theatre-goers with its wealth of attractions. On that day Daly's Theatre opens with Sol Smith Russell in Dion Bouceault's play; the Fourteenth Street with Fay Templeton in "Henorith Hudson;" the Academy of Music with the Haniou-Volter and Martinetti English Pantomine Company; the Lyosum with E. H. Southern, and the People's Theatre with an attraction not vot aunounced. Francis Wilson will probably open Aug. 18 at the Broadway Theatre in 'The Merry Mongreh,' and at Tony Pastor's 'The Broommaker of Carisbad' will be made known.

There is a very agreeable programme this week at Tony Pastor's. Bouckere does some admirable juggine. Miss Lottic Mackeings. Messrs. Geyer and Lord knock themselves about. Thomas O'Brien appears in acrobatic feats, and 'Fun in a Parlor' gives to Charles Phillips and Miss Grace Sherwood many opportunities. A trayesty on many opportunities. A travesty "Fedora called From the Riddenlous the Sublime" causes a great deal laughter.

In the American production of "Faust Up to Date," the rights for which were pur-chased by Charles J. Birnbaum from Mar-cus Mayer, representing George Edwards, or London, Miss Frank's Kemble will be Faust and Miss Martha Portcous Marguerite.
